ABOUT JENIUS

Jeni was born and raised in Fukuoka City. Her mother is Japanese and her father is half African-American and half Venezuelan.

She moved to Tokyo 3 years ago, where she has been working as an illustrator. But later got into modeling when she was scouted at a hair salon to be a hair model.

Shortly after that, an audition for a famous hairdresser opened up the world of fashion and gave her the idea that she could do other types of modeling as well. With her unique power of expression, energetic personality, and cheerful outlook she aims to work for more high-end brands to further promote individuality and diversity on runways and in magazines.
